Interscholastic sports for girls, almost nonexistent several years ago, drew even—and in some cases—ahead of boys athletics during the past school year in the local area.

Once again, Bishop Diego High was atop the ladder of success, and, in more than one sport.

The Cardinals won both the CIF Class A basketball and volleyball championships behind the talented direction of Coach Linda Dawson. Santa Barbara and San Marcos reached the girls’ volleyball playoffs, with the Royals going as far as the quarter-finals before being eliminated.

In basketball, San Marcos and Dos Pueblos followed Bishop’s lead into the playoffs. It was the first playoff appearance for each school in that girls sport.

While no local boys team was able to win a CIF title this year (San Marcos won the golf crown last spring), several made strong showings, nonetheless.

Santa Barbara, Dos Pueblos and San Marcos finished 1-2-3 in the Channel League football race, but each was eliminated from the playoffs in the opening round. DP and Carpinteria were the only local schools to reach the basketball playoffs.

On the junior college level, Santa Barbara City College had a bittersweet basketball season. The Vaqueros won the Western State Conference championship and were ranked No. 1 in the state for virtually the entire season. But they lost to City College of San Francisco in the state semi-finals and then lost their highly successful Coach Ed Delacy, who was named April 1 as UC Santa Barbara’s head coach following the resignation by Ralph Barkey.

SBCC’s women’s volleyball team proved to be one of California’s best, placing third in the state tournament.

And SBCC’s women’s tennis team continued its dominance of the Western State Conference by capturing the league’s title for the third straight year.

It was another wacky year for the city’s professional sports franchises.

The Santa Barbara Condors of the American Soccer League were forced to fold in July because of a financial crisis. The Santa Barbara Spikers of the International Volleyball Association reached the finals of the Western Conference in September and came very close to playing for the IVA title in their third season. A group of foreign stars helped the Spikers attract the league’s best attendance, but even that wasn’t enough to keep the franchise out of trouble.

For the fifth time in four years, the Spikers were forced to look for a new owner and they found one—Bill Levy. Before the local businessman came to the rescue, the Spikers were in jeopardy of folding because of a growing professional sports problem—lack of funds.

One thing the local sports scene didn’t lack this past season, most fans would agree, was excitement.

In truth, the weekly luncheons' success in part is due to their wide appeal. Besides the big three sports—football, basketball and baseball—the luncheons during the course of the year feature every sport imaginable.

"I can't think of a sport in the community that we haven't honored," said Bill Blythe, current president of the Round Table and luncheon emcee. "That includes women's sports. It's really gratifying to be associated with the Round Table Board. They really work together as a team and that's one of the reasons for the success of the luncheons.

The luncheons have also featured a variety of guest speakers including: Tony Trabert, Norm Sherry, Mike O'Hara, founder of the International Volleyball Assn., Duffy Daugherty, Chick Hearn, Sam Cunningham, Jamaal Wilkes, Bill Walton and Lefty Gomez.

A record crowd of over 200 came four years ago to hear Sam D. Battistone, former owner of the Southern California Sun of the World Football League. The local businessman is still a big fan. "I've been to other press luncheons because it would give them the oppo­

"I can't say enough about it. I've seen more than 500 people at the luncheon. It's the best thing Santa Barbara has ever done sports-wise. The luncheons are highlighted by a variety of sports and athletes."

History - of the Santa Barbara Athletic Round Table

Advancement and betterment of all sports and athletics in the greater Santa Barbara area.

If someone were to conduct a poll to select Santa Barbara’s two most outstanding “athletes” over the past 25 years, very probably the men who would receive the most of the votes would be Jerry Harvin and Caesar Uyesaka. We can’t think of any other local civic leaders who have contributed anywhere in terms of their own time, efforts and money to supporting and promoting all sports in Santa Barbara, than have those two during the past quarter century. Anonymous - census

The Santa Barbara Athletic Round Table, the most unique organization of its kind, was the brainchild of these two gentlemen out of several coffee-breaks at Caesar’s restaurant in the winter of 1967.

There was a need ten years ago in Santa Barbara for a sports group which could pitch in and help out any time a need arose. That would support any and all sports and athletics.

The Round Table had been wanting to hold some function year round and this filled the bill.

The Round Table held its first press lunch, started by then president Bill Bertha, September 14, 1970 at Harry’s Plaza Cafe—on Santa Barbara’s northside. In a natural activity for the Round Table those luncheons serve the community as a sort of Monday Morning Quarterback club. All seven area schools are usually represented by their head coach of the sport in season. The Round Table had been wanting to hold some function year round and this filled the bill.

The following is a list of recipients who have been enshrined in that Hall of Fame the last ten years:

L. Tsoutsouvas J. Anderson
K. Gledhill S. Williamson

C. Schutte C. Bossi
M. Fleischman M. Goux

* Played as a Brave in three cities—Boston, Milwaukee and Atlanta.
* Was on three pennant winners and appeared in three World Series with Milwaukee (1957-58) and Detroit (1968).
* Henry Aaron and Mathews hit the most home runs as a "duo" in Major League history—1267.
* He hit homers in 24 major league parks.
* Managed the Atlanta Braves for two years.
* Hit 512 home runs during 17-year career in majors.
* Retired in 1968 with back injury.

Now he is to be inducted into Baseball's Hall of Fame as its 57th member, on August 7, 1978. Tonight, as our special guest, he will be honored with a plaque which will show Santa Barbara's esteem towards this great honor.

But there's another side of Eddie Mathews you may not remember. Let me take you back!!

Would you believe that a football player, All-CIF to boot, returned to the scene of one of his pigskin crimes with a piece of lumber in his hand to club home runs?

EDDIE MATHENS DID!

During the afternoon of December 11, 1948 Eddie Mathews and his Don teammates were held to a 7-7 tie by St. Anthony's of Long Beach. This bright sunny afternoon in the Los Angeles Coliseum these two football rivals were battling for the CIF Championship. Unfortunately for the Dons St. Anthony's was awarded the trophy as winner because of a greater number of first downs, 16-12.

Ten years later, July 11, 1958, with that piece of lumber in hand, Mathews returned to that same Coliseum and stroked a solo homer off Don Drysdale of the Dodgers. In his 17-year major league career he plugged seven homers into the outer reaches of the Coliseum off noted hurlers such as Drysdale, Art Fowler, Ed Roebuck, Johnny Podres, Jim Golden and Larry Sherry.

In his two years as a Don football hero, he was known more for his defensive skills, a switch from his early days in pro-ball. Mathews was a tremendous linebacker. A product of this ability came on November 27, 1947 when he ran an intercepted pass 90 yards for a touchdown. In the 21 games he played for the Santa Barbara Dons during the seasons of 1947-48 he scored 16 touchdowns. Mathews was All-CIF as a fullback in 1948.

While all this football playing was going on he found time to make All-CIF in baseball, 1948 and 1949. Although the Dons did not win the title they were in the final game those two years.

At the moment he is working in the Player Personnel Department of the Milwaukee Brewers, and lives in San Diego with his lovely new bride, Elizabeth.

FANS!

According to Webster one definition of a fan is "an enthusiastic devotee (as of a sport) usually as a spectator an admirer (as of a celebrity)" and the very next word in my dictionary is fanatic "marked by excessive enthusiasm and intense critical devotion. I don't know about you but I have seen a few where you could drop the un and come up with a better definition.

Like players and officials, fans come in all shapes and sizes and approach their role in many different ways. There are those who twist and squirm; sit right on the edge of their seat and at games' end need a whoop as much as the players and officials. There is the kind who is up and down constantly shouting instructions at both officials and players, and who not only hasn't read a rule book, he wouldn't know one if he saw it. There is the type who twists his program, uses it for a megaphone, flails his arms and lives or dies with every pass, dribble or shot. Usually without this type the home team would be on offense all the time if he didn't remember to yell D-E-F-E-N-S-E!

The great majority, thank heavens, make the game easier for the coach and players as well as officials by keeping everything in the proper perspective. There are those who are former stars and those who never competed in a game in their lives. There are many who, if you handed them a rule book, they wouldn't know one if he saw it.

So-o-o, enjoy your sport. Support your team. But every now and then take a peek around you and see if there is another fan peeking at you! It might make even you a better, more understanding fan. See you at the next game and remember - "Keep your seat so the fanatic behind you can see too." Good fans. We love you all, but possibly in varying degrees!!!
